DETAILED ACTION

Double Patenting

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claim 1-46 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-23 of U.S. Patent No. 6, 745,575 to Butcher, in view of U.S. Patent No. 5,465,578 to Barben et al. Butcher discloses applicant's basic inventive concept, a workpiece chuck for supporting a workpiece and having a thermoelectric module (TEM), substantially as claimed with the exception of having the TEM segmented into plurality of segments. Barben shows this feature to be old in the thermoelectric art (col 1, lines 55-58). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made from the teaching of Barben to modify the module of Butcher, by modifying the module to contain cuts in its surface in order to reduce its size and weight.

Conclusion

3. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
